

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A structure of a security element for documents provided with a combination of differently reacting or responding security features and functional
5 designs, including conductive, magnetic and diffractive ones, which render it difficult or impossible for counterfeiters to discover the functioning of the security element.